

WE'VE COMBINED EFFORTS TO BRING YOU THE

EASTERN NEBRASKA CORN & SOYBEAN EXPO

Thursday, Jan. 23

8:00 a.m. to 3.00 p.m.

Christensen Field Main Arena

1730 W 16th Street, Fremont, NE 68025

We've combined the Fremont Corn Expo and the Nebraska Soybean Day & Machinery Expo into one expo focused on both crops! Plan on joining us to learn from a variety of speakers and vendors about important topics for corn and soybean production in 2025.

The event opens with coffee, waffles by The Waffleman sponsored by the Fremont Area Chamber of Commerce and the opportunity to view equipment and exhibitor booths at 8:00 a.m. Speakers start at 9:00 a.m.

Topics and speakers include:

- Optimizing Nitrogen Use in Corn Production - Joe Luck, UNL Professor of Biological Systems Engineering
- Corn disease surprises in 2024? What can you do to prepare for 2025 - Tamra Jackson-Ziems, Extension Plant Pathologist
- Corn and Soybeans, What to Expect Next - Austin Schroeder, President - Schroeder Commodity Marketing, LLC
- What Have We Learned from Testing Ag Performance Solutions (TAPS) - Participant Panel Discussion
- On-Farm Research Opportunities - Adam Leise, Director of On-Farm Research Extension Educator

Updates will also be provided by the Nebraska Corn Board, Nebraska Soybean Board, Nebraska Corn Growers Association and Nebraska Soybean Association.

Visit with representatives from a variety of ag related companies and organizations during a 30-minute break at 10:00 a.m.

The Eastern Nebraska Corn and Soybean Expo will assist producers in planning for next year's growing season. We hope you come and learn from a variety of speakers and vendors about important topics for corn and soybean production in 2025.

This program is sponsored by Nebraska Extension in the university's Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, the Nebraska Soybean Board, the Nebraska Corn Board, and the Fremont Area Chamber of Commerce.

Complimentary lunch will be served.

Registration is available the day of the expo at the door.
